

Dr. Taketsune Matsumura

Dr. Matsumura is an engineer and graduated from Tokyo University in 1991, holds Ph.D. in environmental technology from the University of Tokyo, and specializes especially in ship hull form design, fluid dynamics, and artificial intelligence.

He is currently the General Manager of the Strategic Planning Section of Corporate Planning Department, Mitsui E&S Holdings Co., Ltd., Japan.

Dr. Matsumura joined Mitsui Engineering & Shipbuilding Co., Ltd. in 1991.

He was engaged in R&D for Advanced Marine Vehicles like high speed craft with water-jet propulsion in 1991 through 2006. Then, he worked as a R&D project manager for Bulk Carriers, LNG Carriers, and Coast Guard Ships for eight years, and was appointed General Manager for Basic Design Department of Ship & Ocean Project Headquarters in 2015 through 2017.

He is a member of SNAME and JASNAOE (The Japan Society of Naval Architects and Ocean Engineers).

Dr. Taketsune Matsumura